COULD THIS BE IT? Jane Campbell, 17, of Chillicothe, O., exhibits an unidentified mechanism which fell from a balloon and landed on her father's farm, Saturday. The father, Sherman Campbell, said the vaned object, through optical illusion, may have caused some of the reports of "flying discs." It is 50 inches high and 48 inches wide and covered with tinfoil. In her other hand Miss Campbell holds a piece of a balloon which was attached to the top of the star. (International Soundphoto.

'SAUCERS' SEEN ALL OVER U.S.

Mysterious Disks Reported in 38 States and Canada with No Explanation.

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7 — From one end of the country to the other, new reports of disk-like "flying saucers" skimming through the skies today added to the mystery which has baffled the nation since June 25.

There was no satisfactory explanation of the phenomenon. The saucers first were reported seen over the state of Washington on June 24.

Then persons in other western states said they had seen them. The peak came over the July 4 holiday, when they first were reported seen east of the Mississippi.

The latest tabulation showed the mystery objects had been reported seen in 38 states, the District of Columbia and in Canada. Yesterday they were reported to have been seen in more than a dozen states, and in southwestern Ontario.

An aerial patrol by the Oregon National Guard reported it had failed to sight one of the objects. The guard planned to send a plane today to a spot near St. Maries, Idaho, where a woman said 10 persons saw eight of the disks disappear in timber on July 3.

Kenneth Arnold, businessman-pilot of Boise, Idaho, first reported seeing the disks. He said he saw nine flying in formation at a speed estimated at 1,200 miles an hour over the Cascade mountains. Other observers have given the objects various speeds and, at least one case, said they appeared to be suspended in the air.

Most observers usually agreed that the objects were round or oval. Guesses as to their size have ranged from that of a five-room house or large airplane to one description of "a silver ball, six inches in diameter."

The army, the navy and the atomic energy commission all disclaimed any connection with the mystery. An Army Air Forces spokesman in Washington said the AAF had been checking the reports but added "we still haven't the slightest idea what they could be."

Some scientists suggested that reflections of light, such as from clouds, might account for the flashing objects which have been reported. In some cases, the observers have insisted that the objects have been accompanied by sound.

A Hagerstown, Md., woman said she saw five go eastward at "terrific speed" and that they "roared like a faraway jet."

Mrs. Walter Johnson of Spokane, Wash., reported she was one of a group which saw the objects fall near St. Maries, said she and her companions could not find either the disks or anything to indicate where they might have fallen. She described them as "about the size of a five-room house" and

IS THIS IT? Coastguardsman Frank Ryman reported he photographed mysterious "flying disc" near Seattle on July 4 and said he thought object is white dot indicated by arrow. Photo is enlarged about 20 times from original. (Associated Press Wirephoto).

Laws of Eyesight May Be Clue To Flying Disk Puzzle

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, July 7—Much of what has been described about the flying saucers reported from nearly all parts of the country may be explained by certain laws of eyesight.

All objects appear round or nearly so at any distance which is close to the limit of how far a person can see.

If the objects are seen by reflected light, as in most cases reported, they are almost certain to be round, and if the reflections are sunlight then the sizes reported are those which would be expected from distant light reflections.

Descriptions of virtually all the saucers as round and flat fit exactly with the tricks that eyes play. This trickiness varies with differences in weather and lighting.

This writer has seen flying saucers over Long Island sound near his home not only this year but in previous years.

They were round, bright and moving fast. But they were no mystery because they were light reflected from the bodies of airplanes that soon identified themselves by changing course and coming near to be seen distinctly.

Many descriptions of movements of the flying saucers fit with the common maneuvers of airplanes, singly or in groups. Some of the maneuvering reported, which took saucers out of sight and back into sight again, resembles what can be seen while watching distant airplanes.

Whether planes are guided, pilotless or jet, they all would look the same at great distances.

MUSICIANS MAY BAN NETWORKS

Petrillo Indicates Union Studying Plan To Stop Large Scale Music Programs.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 7—James C. Petrillo said today that his American Federation of Musicians may seek to ban radio network broadcasts of music when present contracts expire Dec. 31.

The union president also declared a "present intentinn" to let all music recording contracts expire at the end of the year. He said the union may decide to made records itself.

Petrillo told a house labor subcommittee investigating his union's activities that he is "considering a new union policy" against all chain broadcasts.

Noting that 603 radio stations now employ no musicians, the union's president said:

"We want to allow these people who are dissatisfied (he referred to the radio networks) to become satisfied.

"Bring 'Em In Person"

"If they want to broadcast Harry James, let them bring Harry James to each station."

Petrillo took the position that musical recordings and network broadcasts are forcing unemployment among musicians.

He predicted half the musicians in the country will be jobless within the year.

Many stations now employ no musicians, he said, "because we give them Toscanini from New York; we give them Whiteman; we give them Phil Harris with the Jack Benny show." Petrillo added:

"We're not going to let these musicians feed these stations all over the country and prevent thousands of our other members from holding jobs."

Petrillo said his members are "very much dissatisfied" with the present royalty arrangement with the recording companies.

The union president said the union is "considering" making musical recordings and issuing them through the union.

Nattily dressed in a gray suit and two-tone shoes the union leader appeared at the opening of

GI Bond Cashing Bill Passes House

WASHINGTON, July 7—Legislation permitting an estimated 9,000,000 ex-GI's to cash their terminal pay bonds after next Sept. 1 was passed today by the house. It now goes to the senate.

HOUSE RUSHES NEW BILL TO LOWER TAXES

Schedules Limited Debate, No Amendments and Passage Vote for Tomorrow.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 7—The house rules committee kept the new income tax reduction bill on its fast timetable today, sending it to the house floor for two hours of debate and expected passage tomorrow.

The bill, proposing income tax cuts ranging from 10.5 to 30 per cent starting next Jan. 1, is identical, except for the effective date, to one vetoed last month by President Truman. The effective date of the vetoed bill would have been July 1, 1947.

The rules committee ordered that no amendments except those sponsored by the ways and means committee, which drafted the bill, shall be considered. The ways and means group has some clarifying and corrective changes to propose.

Senate Also in Hurry

The house Republican leadership, confident it can override another veto, has scheduled the bill for passage tomorrow. The senate also plans early action, possibly by the weekend.

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the ways and means committee told the rules group that enactment of the legislation would not interfere with Republican plans to cut the national debt next year. The total reduction in taxes during the six months starting Jan. 1, Knutson said, will be approximately $1,700,000,000, which would leave $5,000,000,000 for debt retirement if anticipated revenue and spending calculations are accurate.

"The only way you can keep your revenues up," Knutson said, "is to encourage people, to give them an incentive."

"Should Get Signature"

Knutson declined to hazard a guess as to what the President would do if the new bill reaches him, but said "I certainly think he should sign it."

"I don't think he will sign it, but I think both houses of congress will override a veto," commented Rep. Cox (D-Ga), a rules committee member.

Knutson made two moves to head off any further changes:

▶He asked the house rules committee to approve procedures to prohibit any amendments being offered when the house takes up the measure tomorrow. The house is a cinch to approve the bill as is, probably by more than a two-thirds majority.

▶To head off possible senate revisions, Knutson wrote Senator Byrd (D-Va) promising action in January on a husband-and-wife community property bill. The letter said it would be "most unfortunate" if congress acted "hastily on this matter before we found an adequate solution."

Meanwhile, one of the biggest threats to passage of the bill—a possible filibuster in the senate—subsided.

Senator Taylor (D-Idaho), who led the talkfest that delayed the senate vote to override Mr. Truman's veto of the Taft-Hartley labor bill, told reporters that although he opposes the tax cut measure:

"I don't think (it) is a life and death matter with the country and I have no intention of talking at length about it."

Chairman Millikin (R-Colo) of the senate finance committee predicted efforts to amend the measure will be beaten down on the senate floor.

However, Senator McClellan (D-Ark) and others seeking the community property amendment are not likely to be turned off their course by Knutson's letter.

The Arkansas lawmaker insisted that it will be an adequate solution to put into the bill a provision making it possible for husbands and wives in all states—not just the 10 where the practice now is legal by state law—to split their income and take advantage of lower federal tax rates.

Partial Coal Strike Looms

Snag in Negotiations Seems To Make 60 Per Cent Walkout Certain.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 7—A strike of at least 60 per cent of the nation's 400,000 soft coal miners appears inevitable tomorrow as the wage pact which was to lead the way to peace in the bituminous fields bogged down in last-minute legal tangles.

The other 40 per cent of the industry may also be strike-bound Tuesday, when the miners' 10-day vacation is due to end, if the race to complete a contract for the northern and steel company "captive" mines is lost.

A tentative agreement on general terms was reached last Wednesday but this contract must be completed before: (a) coal mine owners of the south, midwest and far west can determine whether they want to "or can—buy peace at the same price; (b) Lewis will even talk about an agreement with anyone else.

The legal snarl therefore was not only relaying the northern-steel company settlement perilously near the strike deadline, but it had all but wiped out any hope of getting agreements for the remainder of the industry in time to bring the miners from other areas back into the pits by the first shifts at midnight tonight. The "captive" mines produce coal only for steel making.

Some operators said Lewis was demanding legal protection against any future strikes under the Taft-Hartley labor law, and that the industry representatives working on the northern-steel pact had balked.

Because the new act would permit the coal companies to sue the United Mine Workers for any breach of contract, Lewis is said to have insisted on a provision stating the miners need work only when they are "willing and able."

SUICIDE VERDICT RETURNED IN DEATH

Coroner Rules Morrow County Woman Shot Self.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, July 7 — Dr. Frank Sweeney, Morrow county coroner, Saturday delivered a verdict of suicide in the fatal shooting of Mrs. Laura Russell, 23, who was found dead at her home in Southern Morrow county Thursday. Circumstances of the death had led to extended investigation by the Morrow county sheriff's office before the verdict was given.

Mrs. Russell's body was found in a bedroom about six feet from a double-barreled shotgun. Officers said a stick found in Mrs. Russell's hand had been used to fire the gun, and the weapon had been thrown across the room by the force of the blast.

A note was found near Mrs. Russell's body, but Sheriff Tom England declined to disclose its contents.

Funeral services for Mrs. Russell were held in Delaware Saturday. Mrs. Russell, and her husband, Irwin, were parents of a son, Irwin Jr., 4.

July 4 Weekend Accidents Claim Lives of 516 in U. S.

The nation's accidental death toll for the July 4 holiday weekend stood at 516 today, The Associated Press reported.

Highway patrolmen and city police listed 16 traffic accidents injuring eight persons, one seriously in Marion and vicinity.

Of the dead in the nation 248 were killed in traffic accidents, 160 drowned, 6 were killed by fireworks and miscellaneous causes took the lives of 160. California was high with 38 fatalities.

At least 20 were dead in Ohio, 11 in traffic accidents, 7 from drowning and 2 from other causes.

More Than 500 Die In U.S. Holiday Accidents

By The Associated Press

More than 500 persons died of highway traffic and other mishaps during the nation's three-day weekend observance of Independence day.

From 6 p. m., Thursday until Sunday midnight there were 248 reported deaths in automobile accidents, 160 drownings, five in fireworks explosions, and 103 from miscellaneous causes, a total of 516.

California had the highest number of fatalities with 38. New York and Pennsylvania had 36 each.

The traffic toll was well under the total of 275 expected by the national safety council, but it was higher than for the same period last year when 241 deaths were reported. The worst record was in 1941 when 628 persons were killed during the July 4th celebration.

Fourth of July Weekend Costs 20 Ohio Lives

By The Associated Press

The long Independence day weekend cost at least 20 lives in Ohio—11 of them in traffic accidents and seven by drowning.

No deaths from fireworks were reported, but miscellaneous fatalities in the tally from Thursday night to Sunday midnight included one death from a picnic scuffle and another from a private plane crash.

Sunday's deaths included:

Kent—Ray Pettingill, 65, and Michael Mueller, 6, of Hudson, O., drowned in nearby Stewart lake when Pettingill's home-made canoe capsized.

Cleveland—Clara Minsky, 23, injured fatally in traffic accident at suburban Garfield Heights.

Willoughby—Robert Lee Barnes, 18, of Bellaire, returned from a visit with his fiance in Willoughby to discuss plans for their August wedding, was killed when a passenger train struck his automobile at a crossing.

The Saturday fatalities included:

Cincinnati—Robert Thompson, 17, of West Milton in streetcar-auto collision.

South Amherst—Howard Russell, 25, apparently fell asleep while fishing, rolled into the Vermilion river and drowned.

Akron—Richard Emery, 29, of Akron, son of the National Small Businessmen's association president, killed in the crash of his private plane in southeastern Summit county.

Ashtabula — Leo Caruse Jr., drowned in Indian creek swimming hole, Saybrook township.

Middletown—Edwin Blustrode, 55, of South Bend, Ind., died in a hospital here of auto crash injuries.

16 Accidents Reported in Marion, Vicinity

Sixteen traffic accidents were reported in Marion and vicinity over the July 4 holiday weekend by the state highway patrol and city police. Eight persons suffered injuries. One was seriously hurt. Two of the accidents were in Marion and the remainder in surrounding territory.

Of the 14 accidents reported by state highway patrol, several occurred in identical spots on various routes with most of them happening within a short time after the first wreck. Wet roads were blamed for most of the accidents patrolmen said.

Seriously injured was James Morris, 18, of near Nevada when the car he was driving overturned several times Saturday at 12:15 p. m. on route 23, two miles south of Nevada, patrolmen said. He was taken to Bucyrus City hospital suffering a fractured skull

SEEKS CHANGE IN ENTRY LAWS

Declares U. S. Should Welcome "Substantial Number" to New Life Here.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 7—President Truman today asked congress to admit a "substantial number of Europe's displaced persons into the United States as immigrants.

In a message, Mr. Truman told congress "special legislation limited to this particular emergency" would be necessary if the United States is to share in offering "an opportunity for a new life to these people."

The President said congress would be dealing "solely with an emergency problem growing out of the war—the disposition of a specific group of individuals, victims of war who have come into the hands of our own and the other western Allies armies of occupation in Europe."

7,000,000 Returned

Since the end of the war, Mr. Truman said, the armies of occupation have been able to return to their homes approximately 7,000,000 people. He added:

"But there still remain in the western zones of Germany and Austria and in Italy close to a million survivors who are unwilling by reason of political opinion and fear of persecution to return to the areas where they once had homes.

"The great majority come from the northern Baltic areas, Poland, the Russian Ukraine and Yugoslavia."

Others Open Doors

Saying that countries in Western Europe and Latin America have opened their doors to substantial numbers of these people, he told congress:

"Our plain duty requires that we join with other nations in solving this problem."

"We ourselves should admit a substantial number as immigrants. We have not yet been able to do this because our present statutory quotas applicable to the eastern European areas from which most of these people come are wholly inadequate for this purpose."

Doesn't Name Number

The President did not specify the extent to which he thought the quotas should be broadened for the emergency. He emphasized that he is not proposing "a general revision of our immigration policy" or proposing lower standards for the admission of immigrants.

He said the newly-established international refugee organization can aid in the care and resettlement of these displaced persons but can not force member countries to accept these people. He added:

"It is unthinkable that they should be left indefinitely in camps in Europe. We can not turn them out in Germany into the community of the very people who persecuted them. Moreover the German economy, so devastated by war and so badly overcrowded with the return of people of German origin from neighboring countries, is approaching an economic suffocation which in itself is one of our major problems."

Two Claim They Helped Induct Rep. Jones Into "Black Legion"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 7 — Two men testified today they had helped to induct Rep. Robert F. Jones (R-Ohio) into the Black Legion.

They appeared before a senate commerce subcommittee which is considering President Truman's nomination of Jones as a member of the federal communications commission.

One of them, Police Chief Frank A. Barber of Beaver Dam, O., said he is a member of the Legion and of the Ku Klux Klan and said he sees nothing in the principles of either organization which would bar a man from public office.

Senator Capehart (R-Ind) asked Barber whether there is anything in the oath of the Black Legion to bar a man from public service.

"Absolutely not," the stocky witness replied. "If a man took that oath and lives up to it he would make one of the finest presidents of the United States."

Asks About Confirmation

Then Capehart asked whether Barber would recommend that Jones be confirmed."

"I can't hardly say that," Barber replied.

He said that Jones as county attorney and congressman "didn't represent the people in general—he represented a few."

Glenn E. Webb, a Westinghouse Electric Corp. employe in Lima, O., told the committee he administered the Black Legion final oath to Jones on a farm a few miles from Lima.

Barber said he gave the preliminary oath. Both said it is against the organization's rules to disclose what the oath contains.

Another witness, Virgil Herbert Effinger, self-described commander of a Black Legion post, testified under oath that he "can't remember" whether Rep. Jones (R-Ohio) joined the Legion as Effinger alleged in an 1938 affidavit.

The 74-year-old witness also told a senate commerce subcommittee that he said in another affidavit to Robert C. Barton, managing editor of the Lima, O., News, that Jones "has never been" a member of the Legion because "it was none of his (Barton's) business."

Senator Capehart (R-Ind) asked Effinger, who testified he is com-

1912 Roadster "Jumps" Over Curb To Help Make Marion Pedestrians Safety Conscious

As part of an extensive campaign to make the pedestrian safety conscious, members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Saturday placed a 1912 Reo roadster partly on the sidewalk on North Main street at the courthouse with signs placed on front and back with the following message, "This auto is no more out of place than a pedestrian standing in the street—For your own safety stand on the curb and wait for the green."

William E. Marks, chief of police and E. O. Uncapher, Safety Service director are working in cooperation with the members helping them to carry out their special campaign.

To Repaint Signs

The first step taken by the organization in the safety drive was the stencilling of more than 75 signs on the pavements about 18 inches from the curb. These will be renewed in a few days and will be painted this time on a white background. The lettering, in yellow, reads "wait on the curb for the green." The first signs painted on the uptown crossings and also at Orchard and Church and Orchard and Center streets have been dulled by pedestrians and the repainting will be done next week.

A check of the accident reports for the first five months of 1947 shows that 29 of the accidents reported during that time involved pedestrians. One fatal accident was reported in February of 1946.

Jaycees plan to stress a different phase of safety for pedestrians each month. The one now underway to remind Marionites to stand on the curb until it is safe to cross is the first in the new campaign. Later they plan to stress the problem of jay-walkers and touch on other faults of pedestrians which endanger their lives.

Heading the safety committee are Raymond Coleman, chairman and George Wingett, vice-chairman.

The ancient auto was furnished for the campaign by the Chevington Auto Sales, who recently purchased the car from a Lima dealer. Jaycees drove the Reo down to the present exhibition place. The Chivington Sales is the first owner of the 1912 car, the motor and tires of which are in excellent condition.

Marion Couple Report Seeing Aerial "Saucers"

Two Marion residents were added today to the growing number of persons who reported seeing the "flying saucers." They are the first to report from the locality.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hunsinger of 175 Pearl street reported they saw a number of the disks Friday night about 10:30 while driving near Iberia on their return home from Galion. They said the disks were high in the air and when they passed over they cast a reflection was cast from the disks.

They said the disks were round, did not seem to be going in a definite direction but would dart back and forth, looking like kites in the sky.

Commission Studies Program To Fight Atomic Age Hazards

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 7—A six-point program to protect human beings from hazards of the atomic age and to make best use of its potential bounties was under study today by the U S atomic energy commission

The program was outlined in a report by a seven-man board of eminent American scientists in the medical and biological field It was made public over the weekend by Chairman David E Lilienthal of the commission

The report said there is an "urgent and extensive" need for further research on the effects of atomic energy radiations on human life in peacetime and war

It charged the commission with "primary" responsibility for providing adequate protection for civilians, and with a shared responsibility for aiding the armed forces "in the protection of troops and ships from the effects of atomic weapons"

Peacetime Uses Paramount

The report added

'Since it is reasonable to expect that the benefits to man derived from the application of atomic power to his life, comforts, and health will, in the long run, outstrip the military significance of atomic energy, it is suggested that further steps be actively taken to bring these applications of atomic energy to the attention of the public and particularly to students"

The board recommended specifically that the commission do these things

1 Expand research on medical and biological aspects of atomic energy in its own factories and laboratories

2 Join with the armed forces the U S public health service and other government agencies in cooperative studies

3 Continue to provide radioactive isotopes for 'tracer' research in medicine, chemistry, engineering and other fields (Such isotopes are important research tools, because they furnish signals' which a scientist can follow when the materials are being used in various experiments)

4. Support, by financial or other means, researches now under way in various universities on the effects of radiant energy

5 Foster fellowships for promising students in the field of atomic radiation effects so as to assure adequate and continuing manpower for the task Also recommended was subsidized technical training for promising students at regional laboratories of the commission

6 Avoid secrecy in the field in so far is possible within the of biological and medical research limits of national security, and also encourage publication of scientific papers—within the same limits—so as to spur research generally

Research Need Urgent

The scientists said the need for further research is urgent because of "the extraordinary danger of exposing living creatures to radioactivity" and 'because effective defensive measures (in the military sense)) against radiant energy are not yet known

Thus, they said there will be 'incessant danger from now on because 'we shall mine transport process and use radioactive substances as sources of power tools for investigation of biological processes, and for the treatment of disease"

The scientists making the report were Dr Robert F Loeb of Columbia university, chairman, Dr Detley W Bronk of the University of Pennsylvania and chairman of the national research council Dr Wallace O Fenn, university of Rochester physiologist Dr Herbert S Gasser, director of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical research Dr Ernest V Goodpasture dean of Vanderbilt university's school of medicine Dr Alan Gregg director for medical sciences Rockefeller foundation and Dr A Baird Hastings Harvard university, professor of biological chemistry

INVESTIGATIONS TO CONTINUE

Congress To Keep Probers Going All Season, Despite Summer Holiday.

By GRANT DILLMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON July 7—Congress, even during the summer recess is going to help keep alive the promise of Rep Clarence Brown, (R) of Ohio to open each day with a prayer and close it with a probe

The hefty Ohioan promised early this session that the GOP-controlled congressional committees will continue their work through the summer and fall, even though congress has set the July 26 as its target for adjournment

A survey discerned that several investigation committees will continue their work through the summer and fall, even though congress has set the July 26 at its target for adjournment

May Affect Election

Some of these inquiries may have an important bearing on the 1948 presidential election since they will center on administration policies and programs Others will be routine checks of executive offices

The house un-American activities committee is saving until late September what Chairman J Parnell Thomas terms 'the best show yet —full-dress public hearings on alleged Communist infiltration of the Hollywood movie colony.

This investigation also will look into charges that White House pressure" during the Roosevelt administration was responsible for the filming of pro-Communist movies

On the other side of the capitol Sen Brewster's war investigating committee will check into reported irregularities in wartime government contracts It also will continue its inquiry into the Persian Gulf oil cases

Hughes Question Asked

In connection with other war contracts the Maine Republican said the committee will try to find out why $40 000 000 of government funds was spent by Howard Hughes for a large experimental aircraft "with nothing to show for it"

The house labor committees investigation of James C Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, also is expected to spill over into the summer The committee is investigating Petrillo's allegedly monopolistic practices

Senate Republicans likewise are plumping for a thorough investigation of the alleged Kansas City primary election frauds in President Truman's home political bailiwick last year

The un-American activities committee also plans public hearings on charges that there is Communist domination in two large labor unions—the United Electrical Workers and the United Food, Tobacco and Agricultural workers Both are CIO

And the house food investigating committee headed by Chairman August H Anderson will review the agricultural department's entire operations with an eye to eliminating duplication It will be the first such review since the department was founded

Rev. Melvin Truex Speaks at Meeting of Pensioners

Rev. Melvin Truex, pastor of First Church of Christ in Christian Union was guest speaker at the meeting of the Marion County Old Age Pension society held last week at the Eagles hall

The meeting opened with the group singing 'America' salute to the flag and the Lord's prayer repeated in unison by the group Rev Truex said that 'the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life' He continued by saying everyone is working for one of two masters, one is God, the other the devil In conclusion he stated that people would like to 'straddle the fence between the two but the fact remained that it was impossible to serve both God and the devil'

The musical program included two selections sung by Christian Ruth and William Sergent 'I Love To Tell the Story and 'Farther Along" The group sang the Happy Birthday song in honor of William Porter's 80th birthday Mrs Elizabeth Houser gave both the opening and closing prayer

Water was a luxury then

LITTLE MORE THAN a hundred years ago, drinking water was peddled on city streets for a penny a pail. At this rate, on the basis of present-day use, water was distinctly a luxury. For household purposes, most families depended on well water, laboriously pumped by hand, and of uncertain purity.

Of course, in those "good old days", people didn't enjoy the benefit and pleasure of a daily bath. Their gardens were at the mercy of the weather man. Wash day was "blue Monday" for good reason. Because purification was unknown, typhoid epidemics and other water-borne ailments took an enormous toll in lives and sickness.

TODAY, a mere turn of the faucet brings you all the water you want. It is satisfying, safe, dependable. It costs so little that only a nickel—the price of a package of gum—pays for an abundant day's supply for the average family! And it's one necessity you can still get at its low, pre-war price.

AKRONITE WINS VOTE FOR V.F.W. POSITION

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 7—John M. (Jack) Emde of Akron today held the post of junior vice commander of the Ohio department of Veterans of Foreign Wars, putting him in line for eventual advancement to the state commandership.

The 55-year-old Akron public school principal and veteran of two World Wars emerged victor from a four-way race. He defeated V. J. Moore of Sandusky; William O'Brien of Silvertown, and Rolland Pierce of Nelsonville.

Spirited balloting marked the close Sunday of the V.F.W.'s 27th annual encampment. Thomas F. Gallagher of Lima defeated Walter A. Kelley of Cincinnati for judge advocate after the election was disputed on the first ballot and revoted.

Other officers elected were George Kistner of Columbus, quartermaster; Dr. Louis H. Brooks of Cleveland, surgeon; and Nyle Borden of Gallipolis, chaplain.

Robert Howard of Willard advanced to the top post of department commander with Arthur Willard of Cleveland succeeding him as senior vice commander.

A resolution was adopted to boost per capita dues from 50 cents to $1.25 annually for an increased program of service.

The following district commanders were installed:

Cecil Johnson, Toledo district 1; Ivan Schultz, Springfield, 3; Harry King, Martins Ferry, 5; Walter Hertzel, Cleveland, 7; V. J. Moore, Sandusky, 9, and E. W. Funk, Columbus, 11.

Commanders in the numbered districts will be chosen next year.

The V.F.W. ladies auxiliary elected the following officers:

Mrs. Celia Hunsberger, Akron, president; Mrs. Mildred Fete, Canton, senior vice president; Mrs. Addie Willard, Cleveland, junior vice president; Mrs. Maurine Shoemaker, Columbus, chaplain; Mrs. Marian Fox, Youngstown, conductoress, and Mrs. Annabel Given, Dayton guard.

Eight hundred registered for the Ladies Auxiliary sessions. Mrs. Sally Cannon of Youngstown, O., national president, left the Columbus meeting yesterday for Seattle, Wash., en route to Juneau, Alaska, to visit auxiliaries there.

Aug. 1 Is Deadline On Veterans' Insurance

Samuel Manning, contact representative in charge of the Marion veterans administration office, announced today that the present liberal provisions for reinstatement of lapsed national service life insurance issued to veterans of World War II are effective only until Aug. 1. These provisions require that the veteran need pay only two monthly premiums and sign a comparative health statement to get his GI insurance back in force. After the August deadline, Manning warned, it will be necessary for veterans to take a complete physical examination if their policies have lapsed more than three months.

According to Manning, the original deadline for easy reinstatement was Feb. 1, 1947; but was extended by congress to Aug. 1. He stated, however, that all indications are that there will be no further extensions to allow veterans to pick up insurance as easily as it is now possible.

Mr. Manning is available for aid and advice pertaining to insurance and other V. A. benefits at the Marion office, and also makes periodic visits to Galion, Bucyrus, Mt. Gilead and Upper Sandusky for the same purpose.

Ohio Spending Increase Reported by C. of C.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 7—Without comment, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce issued a statement today citing increases of 47 per cent in state expenditures over the 1945-46 biennium.

Executive Vice President Herschel C. Atkinson said a detailed report on state finances would be issued within a few weeks, showing all major classifications of spending authorized by the state legislature which adjourned recently.

The Chamber listed the 1947-48 appropriation for personal service (salaries) at $87,358,455 compared with $59,396,087.20 expenditure in the previous biennium and $43,092,275.14 comparable expenses in 1943-44. It said the bulk of the 94 per cent increased cost for salaries in four years represented high salary levels and upgrading of employes, since there had been no great increase in the number of state jobs.

MR. AND MRS. EUGENE A. DONAUGH of 587 North Main street are announcing the marriage of their niece, Miss Genevieve Marie Kester, to Malcolm Grounds, son of James Grounds of 42 Toledo avenue. The double ring ceremony took place Sunday at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon in the Greenwood Evangelical United Brethren church with the pastor, Rev. R. L. Sutherland, officiating. The custom of open church was observed.

Palms and lighted candles in two seven-branch candelabra formed a background at the altar for two large baskets of peach gladioli. The pews were marked with pink streamers caught with sweet peas.

A half-hour program of nuptial music preceded the ceremony with Miss Frances Haas at the piano, and Miss Ruth Carr as soloist. Selections by Miss Haas included "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," Herbert, "Thine Alone," Herbert, "Indian Love Call," Friml, "Liebestraum," Liszt, "Always," Berlin, "Through the Years," Youmans, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," Stultz, "Intermezzo," Provost, "Serenade," Schubert, and the traditional wedding marches. Miss Carr sang "Oh Promise Me," DeKoven, "Because," d'Hardelot, and "I Love You Truly," Bond.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her uncle. She wore a gown of white lace and net over satin. The fitted bodice in a lace design had a heart-shaped neckline with short puffed sleeves of net. The low waistline was bordered with a ruffle of net, and the skirt was of net over satin. Her fingertip veil of illusion edged in a lace design was held in place with a halo of pearlized orange blossoms. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and baby breath.

Attending the bride as bridesmaid was Miss Phyllis Gorenflo of Marion. She was attired in a gown of blue taffeta styled with a peplum and puffed sleeves. In her hair she wore a band of matching blue net and her jewelry was a strand of pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of shell pink roses and baby breath.

Serving as best man was Charles W. Evans of Marion, and ushers were Edgar Donaugh and William Griffith, cousins of the bride and bridegroom. They also lighted the candles.

For her niece's wedding, Mrs. Donaugh chose a dress of blue crepe over aqua print with which she combined black and white accessories. Her corsage was of two gardenias.

A reception for 50 guests was held following the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donaugh. The table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Bouquets of flowers decorated the rooms. Later in the evening, the bridal couple and a few friends and relatives were entertained at a dinner at Turoff's restaurant.

The bride's gift to her attendant was a pin and to the pianist and soloist she gave earrings. The bridegroom gave his best man a billfold and tie clasps to the ushers.

Mrs. Grounds is a graduate of Harding High school and is employed as a stenographer at McKinney Motor Sales, Inc. Mr. Grounds, also a graduate of Harding High school, served with the U. S. Navy in World War II two years, with 18 months of that time overseas. He is employed at the Marion Power Shovel Co.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Blanche McDaniel, Abe Johnson and Mrs. Grace Reid and son, Joe, of Urbana, and Mrs. Anna Hardin of Galion.

The couple are residing for the present at 134 Chicago avenue.

A picnic dinner was held July 4 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bradley of near Marion. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Donald Halbert, Mrs. Lottie Halbert, William C. Allen and children, Jerry, Nancy, Estelle and Emma, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Smith of near Galion, Mr. and Mrs. Zell Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. William Traxler and daughters, Marie and Judith, and George Melvin Smith all of Marion.

Mrs. Lena Allen of Johns street entertained members of the Miracle Pinochle club recently. Awards went to the following: Mrs. Bonna Rinbolt, first; Mrs. Maggie England, second; Mrs. Emma Wedertz, third; Mrs. Allen, consolation and Mrs. Ethel Richards, mystery box. Mrs. England will entertain members at her home, 538 Henry street for the next meeting.

AIR FORCE CLAIMS RECORD

WASHINGTON, July 7—The Army Air Forces laid claim today to a new record: carrying 97 persons in an airplane made to accommodate 25. The record-breaking flight was forced on the AAF by flood waters lapping at the heels of the passengers as they swarmed aboard the C-47 near Trinidad, Bolivia, last May.

Armed Services Asking GI Help In 18 Urgently-Needed Devices

BY ROBERT E. GEIGER
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON, July 7 — The armed services are appealing to the public, and especially ex-GI's, to help solve some knotty military problems that have American inventors stumped.

They want quick answers to such diverse problems as how to build a landing field or a road virtually overnight and how to make a gasoline engine-generator small enough for a man to carry.

The appeal is aimed primarily at ex-soldiers because officials believe many of them must have thought of ways to improve equipment they handled during the war.

Replies should be addressed to L. S. Hartland, National Inventors Council, U. S. Department of Commerce, Washington, 25, D. C.

18 Urgent Problems

Here are 18 problems listed as "urgent":

1. Solidification of soils to support the emergency operation of aircraft or military vehicles on airfields or roads. Suggested solutions, use of electrical energy; freezing soils for long periods, mechanical method of compaction or pressure.

2. Development of rectifier tubes in 8,000 to 40,000 volts range. They will be used to operate an electron image tube.

3. Storage batteries for low temperature operation, down to 50 degrees below zero.

4. Gas turbines of less than 200 horsepower whose economy of operation is comparable to or better than conventional internal combustion engines. To be used for operating water and petroleum pumps and electric power generators.

Portable Power Units

5. Ultra light-weight gasoline power units, from one to five horsepower, to be carried by personnel.

6. New types of fuels and lubricants for use in extremely hot and cold climates.

7. Plastics suitable for structural material in building such things as bridges; airplane landing mats; boats; pneumatic floats; collapsible water tanks, and transparent windows that will not become brittle after folding.

8. Light-weight, high strength, non-aggressive structural metals to be used in engine-generator sets, air compressors, pontoon boats and bridges.

9. The dry development of photographic film by a method that can be used in truck trailers.

Anti-Corrosion Chemical

10. A method of preventing corrosion and deterioration in all types of materials exposed to extreme weather, such as the tropics.

11. Preventing materials from changing physical characteristics in extremely low temperatures.

12. A glider-borne lifeboat which may be launched from water or land and towed by power aircraft to persons in distress in the water.

13. A gun that will throw a line 1,200 feet in rescue work or for towing. Equipment must weigh less than 100 pounds.

14. A device to detect fog, rain squalls or snow at a distance of three or four miles, and which will automatically start a fog signal in operation on an unattended lightvessel.

15. A miniature radio transmitter to be used on life-saving flotation equipment as an aid in locating survivors in distress at sea. Its signal should reach up to 70 miles and its weight should not exceed one pound.

16. A device to warn of the presence of combustible gas fumes on gasoline-engine propelled boats.

17. A more efficient salt water evaporation for ships.

18. A land-going lifeboat for coastal life saving, such as the army amphibious vehicle the duck, but more buoyant and faster.

Former German Solon Hits Reparations Policy

By The Associated Press

YELLOW SPRINGS, O., July 7—A German reichstag member from 1920-33 told the Antioch Institute of International Relations today that the United States and Great Britain "are paying hundreds of millions of dollars of reparation to Germany instead of receiving reparations" because of the Allies' failure to agree on a program to mend Germany's wrecked economy.

F. Wilhelm Sollmann, a reichstag member and secretary of the interior before Hitler's advent to power, declared that "the German nation, especially the rather cynical youth, can only develop a sound political system if the Allies end their battle to dominate Germany by a working agreement."

Evangelistic Services Open at Caledonia

Evangelistic meetings at the Caledonia Church of Christ opened Sunday evening with Rev. F. S. Dowdy of Lancaster as the evangelist. The auditorium in the church was filled for the service and Rev. Dowdy spoke on the subject, "Jesus, the World's Savior." Mrs. Evelyn Lloyd Griffith of Paris, Ky., song leader, sang two numbers.

In his talk, Rev. Dowdy emphasized two points. One, the fact that Jesus was born of the virgin, thus being the Son of God. He explained that His virgin birth is evidenced by the writings of Matthew and Luke, and that Paul also adds his endorsement of this doctrine. The second point of emphasis was placed on God's mission, "to save His people from their sins."

The services will be held each night this week through Sunday with the exception of Saturday. Sermon topics for the week will be as follows: tonight, "The Atonement," Tuesday, "The Everlasting Gospel," Wednesday, "The Church," Thursday, "The Marching Church," Friday, "The Plan of Salvation," Sunday morning, "The Greatest Memorial," and Sunday night, "Near to the Kingdom."

Kesselring Truly Fabulous Figure of 2nd War

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK — Field Marshall [illegible], whose death [illegible] a war criminal has [illegible] to life imprisonment [illegible] of the truly-fabulous [illegible] Second World War, [illegible] of Lieut. Gen. Sir [illegible] British commander [illegible] Mediterranean, to [illegible] of this career Ger- [illegible] is [illegible] in [illegible] day- [illegible] war [illegible], at [illegible] veteran of [illegible] soldi- [illegible] through [illegible] has [illegible] more mili- [illegible] and [illegible] than a [illegible]. He [illegible] as a young [illegible] soldier, [illegible] and lost a great fame in [illegible] as a luftwaffe leader, and [illegible] as Nazi Germany's last [illegible] strategist.

[illegible] both in aerial offense [illegible] ground defense—but both his [illegible] and defensive campaigns will be long remembered and studied.

Hal Boyle

Britain To Remember

Britain in particular will forever keep in memory this bald Bavarian. It was he, a former pilot and close friend of Herman Goering, who flew the luftwaffe against Poland, fired Rotterdam, rained down death upon the British troops at Sandy Dunkerque.

His name is identified with Coventry and every bomb that fell during the great "Battle of Britain," which was turned into a debacle for both Goering and Kesselring by a few men in a few Spitfires. Yes, London will always remember him, for the scars of his coming are still there.

Kesselring trooped them in North Africa and Russia, and he led the luftwaffe again in the battle of Sicily in the summer of 1943. American commanders were so contemptuous of his air strategy in that campaign that General Eisenhower's chief of staff told a press conference:

"We're thinking of flying one of our air medals over and dropping it to him. He's been a big help to us."

Joking Ceases Abruptly

But the joking at Kesselring ceased rapidly after he took over the defense of Italy. The stubborn fight he made up the long Italian peninsula—particularly at Cassino and Anzio — won him grudging admiration from American and British leaders on this "forgotten front."

Just before war's end Adolf Hitler summoned him to the defense of the western front—a cause already lost.

He was put on trial before a British military court as a war criminal for executing 335 Italians in the Ardeatine caves in reprisal for the death of 32 of his soldiers, caused by bombs hurled by Italian underground agents into a German column marching through Rome.

"Shooting of 300 or more criminals—as I was convinced they were—was the fairest solution in the eyes of history, morality and humanity," Kesselring testified, citing alleged cases of well poisoning, mutilation and torture by Italian partisans against his troops.

Quotes U. S. Rules

And then, returning for perhaps the last time to the old German principle that the best defense is a counterattack, he introduced as justification for his action the "rules of land warfare," issued by the U. S. army. These say in part:

"Hostages taken and held for the declared purpose of insuring against unlawful acts by the enemy forces or people may be put to death if the unlawful acts are nevertheless committed."

But the British military court, after all the evidence was in, still doomed Kesselring and two other German generals to death.

Civilians may debate the wisdom of the British general who spared these enemy lives. But few professional soldiers will—in America or elsewhere. They don't like the general principle of shooting losing generals. They have a class-conscious feeling about the matter. They realize it might be their turn after some other war.

But in any case Kesselring, old and ailing with a chronic gall bladder complaint, probably won't survive to play a part in any future battles. His days of muscle are done.

Grandpa Shudders At What Goes On In "Little Red School"

By The Associated Press

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 7—The little red school house lingers on in West Virginia, but Grandpa would shudder if he could see what's going to happen inside next fall.

H. Cliff Hamilton, state supervisor of elementary education, has explained drastic changes in the educational plan for some 80,000 youngsters attending the state's one and two-teacher rural schools.

The program virtually will eliminate grades as they're commonly made up now. Pupils will be grouped instead into units for detailed study of practical subjects, such as dairying and agriculture, which are important in a ruarl community.

Elementary English, geography and kindred subjects will be subordinated to a place in the central theme of instruction, directly related to farm and community life.

Almost everything will be offered on the new group level. The youngsters will have a hand in mapping their own courses of study.

"We are striving," Hamilton said, "to introduce a kind of training to meet the actual needs of the children and to encourage democratic thinking among them."

Hamilton said the new program was evolved after two years of study on the part of school authorities.

Classroom experiences, he added, indicate that the three R's as presently taught, don't solve the problem as they once did. Of them, Hamilton said:

"They simply do not provide the kind of instruction necessary for our pupils to move easily into community life."

YOUR HEALTH

Backache

It is strange but true that the only complaint a patient may have is a backache when actually what he is really suffering from is an abdominal disorder.

According to Drs. Henry J. Tumen and Joseph C. Yaskin of Philadelphia, pain in the back is frequently caused by such abdominal ailments as gallstones, ulcers of the stomach or intestine, inflammation of the pancreas, colitis or inflammation of the bowels, and even by excessive amounts of gas in the digestive tract.

Of course, backache may be produced by dozens of other conditions, some of them affecting the back itself. Among these are inflammation of the joints of the spine, tumors of the spine, muscle inflammation, or a displacement of some of the little disks or cushions of cartilage which separate the bones of the spine. Or again, it may be a symptom—often the only one—of a tumor of the pancreas or kidney.

Thus, the important thing to remember about backache is that it is only a symptom. Before it can be treated, the condition causing it must be discovered.

When the backache is due to conditions within the abdomen, it is not accompanied by spasms of the muscles, limitation of the movement of the back, or changes in the curve of the spinal column. Physical activity may not cause any discomfort during the day, but pain develops during the night. Lying on the back may often make the condition worse, and the patient is usually relieved by lying in a position in which the spine is bent forward.

The pain caused by ulcer of the stomach or first part of the bowel may be felt in the back instead of the pit of the stomach. If the pain produced by such an ulcer is unusually severe, it may indicate that the ulcer has ruptured.

Collection of gas in the large bowel or colon may cause pain in the back just under the ribs. This pain is usually worse during the night or early morning, particularly if the patient suffers from constipation.

Thus, when the patient suffers from backache, it is important to know exactly where the pain is located, when it occurs, how long it has been present, and whether it interferes with the patient's activities. From these points, together with careful physical examination, including X-ray of the spine, it is usually possible to determine the source of the disorder and apply the most effective treatment.

It is estimated that an acre of meadowland contains some 15,000,000 insects.

It Makes a Difference

WISCONSIN'S Senator McCarthy is one of the first to say publicly something that makes a difference in the American point of view on relations with Russia.

"We've been at war with Russia for some time" Senator McCarthy said during a recent radio program, adding that so far Russia has been winning all the engagements.

Before World War II erupted into actual combat, there was a condition known as "white war." The belligerents had taken their places, and put everything on a martial footing—but no explosives were being used. They were sparring for position, taking battle stations, defining the questions on which their views were irreconcilable, lining up their allies. Viewed in historic perspective, this had been going on for years before the shooting war began in the fall of 1939. It was not called war, yet it clearly was not peace.

Senator McCarthy finds a resemblance in the present situation. The United States and the Soviet Union are not going to have a shooting war in the immediate future. But they are holding irreconcilable views. They have joined the issue of freedom vs a police state. They are headed for a violent showdown. The Kremlin and Washington are issuing hostile statements. They are sparring for position, defining their areas of difference, lining up their allies. It isn't quite war, but it's not peace.

From Bad to Worse

CHINA'S Nationalist government is taking a terrific beating in its civil war with the Communists. The Nationalists, who last spring predicted the Communists would be crushed in three months, now have yielded more than 85 per cent of Manchuria and great sections of China itself.

The Nationalists complain that of 800,000 Communist troops in Manchuria, 700,000 were equipped by Russia. But they overlook the very considerable aid themselves received from the United States in the way of training, material and transportation in the race to seize northern China's cities after Japan's surrender.

The reason the Nationalist regime is in its present plight is that the people have lost faith in it. This is admitted in the American-published China Magazine which says, "The people, already poor, find their livelihood more difficult than before . social and moral standards have collapsed. Corruption, inefficiency, spoliation and a lack of decency of purpose are evident."

The Nationalists call for further aid from America, but there is no incentive to send food when it winds up on the black market and military supplies rust in storage yards for lack of proper distribution. The day may come when China has a stable government which merits American aid but at present it appears futile to attempt to shore up a corrupt government in a hopeless battle.

Touch-Me-Nots

THE same labor executives who fought the Taft-Hartley bill in congress are spreading it on the record that they will not recognize its passage. They will violate its provisions and disregard its enforcement arm.

It is their privilege to make this decision, if they think it's wise. Meanwhile, of course, it continues to be the privilege of the soverign people to demand that all laws in the statutes be fully enforced.

The first rule of survival for government is that no minority must be permitted to challenge authority and get away with it. The first line of defense is enforcement. Then come the courts. After the courts comes the legislature, and final appeal is to the people.

Many times arrogant minorities have gone all the way to the people before losing their challenge. It has happened to business groups, political gangs, crackpot organizations and lunatic fringes. If labor unions must learn the hard way that no minority in this country is bigger than the sovereign people, this is their opportunity.

The union executives who seem determined to rig the issue so a citizen must be for them lock, stock and Petrillo or be against them to the same extent have the power and the money to force a showdown. They admitted no possibility of compromise when the issue was before congress. They say they will refuse compliance now that the issue is in the hands of enforcement officers. They declare they will be irreconcilable in the courts. They threaten to defeat legislators who will not give them carte blanche.

No other group ever got away with a peremptory challenge to the government. The United States, in the name of the people and with their overwhelming approval, has asserted it rights to make the rules of the game between labor unions and management. Spokesmen for the unions have defied the nation's right to control them.

Taft Wedding Picketing New Type of Intimidation.

WASHINGTON, July 7—A new high in political intimidation was scored when an electrical union international field representative organized the picketing of the wedding of a young son of Senator Taft because of Taft's legislative views. This man who injected union politics into a family nuptial celebration proclaimed a right "to picket Senator Taft wherever we find him."

The right he is proclaiming, of course, is to intimidate not only a public legislator, but his family, thus to annoy and frighten any public man for having views contrary to a union's.

In somewhat similar but more legitimate circumstances, President Truman set a far different and thoroughly American example. When Henry Wallace went to Europe to speak against the American government foreign policy, Mr. Truman said let him talk, let him go as far as he wishes. His passport was not taken up. No impediment of the slightest intimidation was put in his path. Mr. Truman let Wallace have and express his opinion, even contrary to bi-partisan government foreign policy and even abroad against his own government.

Significance

The immediate significance of this picketing involves the question how far the unions are going in opposition to a law enacted by more than two-thirds of congress. One small Ohio manufacturer, who has never had serious labor trouble (no strikes), says privately his men have turned against their leaders in the past week, are growing restless, and he fears the result. Indeed the trend has gone so far an AFL official issued public assurance against revolutionary activities such as a general strike. But private reports from certain eastern factories disclose the Communists have found meat to their liking in this situation and are going whole hog at it, intending to goad the unions to the utmost. Furthermore, certain senators are saying that while the Commies may make extreme nuisances for the government, the really dangerous political movement within the unions will come from an American counterpart of the British Socialist union leftists who want the union fight against the bill to lead America into a Socialist Labor government like England's. This group is not organized in a party. It is not yet even clearly defined as a sect. But the picketing of the nuptials of a son of a senator for his legislative view represents extremist Socialist tactics of political intimidation, smearing of public names and roughshod riding of public opinion.

My own reports are meagre and largely personal, but do not bear out these fearful suspicions. Or rather, the most trustworthy objective reports, while inadequate, show none of these political disasters is actually possible.

Oppose Socialism

American union leaders, and rank and file, agree on not wanting Socialism. They get higher wages now than British Socialism will ever provide. They want freedom of negotiation and contract. The Commies and Socialists will ride union coat tails, and perhaps foment or do the dirtiest of the campaigning job against the law, but they are not likely to convert American union leadership to their cause. Both are small minorities, which may now grow, but not enough to be politically revolutionary at this time.

News accounts of the picketing of the church at the Taft son's wedding say the field organizer had planned for several thousands of his members to stage their picket protest, but only 150 showed up. This kind of stuff was apparently too much even for most of the electrical workers.

The whole union leadership, however, does not seem to realize in its campaign that it has failed to swing public opinion. The campaign is emotional, purely. The unions act outraged. They do not point to anything anyone has done to them yet, under the bill, which contravenes justice. They say the law is unjust, but they offer only their own interpretations of it and say these possibilities are unjust. They have made no cause celebre to convince anyone. They have only shown the law is against their wishes. They need to demonstrate their cause more clearly, but they cannot do this by agitation and they may hurt their cause before the public by extreme activities.

They are not likely to run away with public opinion by use of a whip on their adversaries and families.

Joined Together In Their Altogether

A California couple were recently married in the nude.

There's a bride who really had something to brush about.

The ceremony took place in a nudist colony and everyone unclothed except the minister, who was apparently a vested clergyman.

It was a cold day so the only thing the bride lacked was something old and something new and something borrowed.

Her attendants wore goose-pimples and an air of nonchalance. So far as I can determine, theirs were the most decollete bridal gowns on record.

It must have been disconcerting for the best man, not having a pocket in which to carry the ring.

But the groom ought to be happy. His wife can't ever complain about not having anything to wear.

Yes sir, it must have been something to see, them taking the oath to love, honor and cherish until double pneumonia do them part.

End the Vice Presidency?

Proposed Amendment Would Abolish the Office.

ARE vice presidents necessary? U. S. Representative Emanuel Celler of New York doesn't believe so. He has introduced a resolution proposing a constitutional amendment which would abolish the vice presidency as of Jan 20, 1953. Thereafter, in event of a president's death, the secretary of state would serve as a caretaker until the next congressional election, which also would be a presidential election.

Apparently Representative Celler has been much impressed by the case made against vice presidents by Lucius Wilmerding Jr. of the Princeton Institute for Advanced Study, who has pointed out that the vice president, as such, has no duties, his position as the Senate's presiding officer being analogous to that of House speaker.

"Actually," says the congressman, "the office of vice president is used as bait in many instances, either to placate a petulant state or offer a favorite son for bargaining purposes. . The death of a president promotes a man to the highest office who, in most instances, was not considered a first choice. We are then asked to take what I politely put as second best."

Representative Celler points out that six vice presidents have risen to the presidency. In sponsoring the resolution, he says he isn't considering the capabilities of those six men but he does emphasize the danger that exists in permitting men not specifically chosen for high office to walk in automatically. "The nominee for vice president," he says, "is not searchlighted by public interest; his convictions or vigor are not election issues. Throttlebottom was good healthy satire and essentially correct in emphasizing the inanities of the office of vice president."

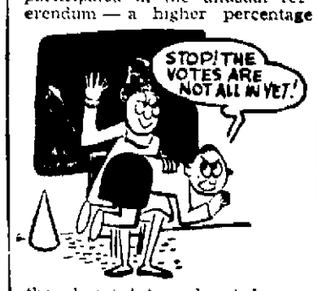
Bavarian Vote Packs a Wallop

By The Associated Press

MUNICH—Spanking was officially reinstated as a punishment for Bavaria's public school pupils after parents voted 60 per cent in favor of it in a statewide referendum.

Ninety-four per cent of the parents with school age children participated in the unusual referendum — a higher percentage than has yet turned out for any political election since the war.



Spanking, once the rule in German schools, was abolished in Bavaria last year.

Dr. Alois Hudhammer, education minister, said he would issue instructions soon as to how and with what kind of paddle children should be spanked.

The vote for spanking was 668,320 with 425,959 against. Each pupil was given a ballot to take home for his parents to fill out.

Leftists Are Confused

By MARK SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON, July 8—When President Truman vetoed the labor bill he set the pattern for an extraordinary political year—the veto, on June 20, was close to exactly 12 months before the expected dates of the Republican and Democratic National conventions.

The phrase "set the pattern" is about 50 per cent correct, for in the area of the two old parties, especially the Republicans, Mr. Truman's action clarified the political picture. But upon the groups outside the old parties, including the largest of them symbolized by Henry A. Wallace, the effect of Mr. Truman's veto was confusion; it was, so to speak, a multiplication of division.

During the Presidency of Roosevelt the dissenting groups in American politics had attained a unity which they never before had, and which in the nature of things is usually impossible for such groups. Preceding the 1944 campaign, four groups took formal action in support of a fourth election of Roosevelt. The coincidence of the steps, taken within a single week, made the coherence almost sensational. The four group were the CIO Political Action Committee, the American Labor party, the Liberal party and the Communist party, which, as it took this step, formally changed its name temporarily to "Communist Political Association." The only group of any consequence that remained outside this concerence in support of Roosevelt was the Socialist party, which retained its 45 years of separate identity and had a candidate of its own, Norman Thomas.

Sought to Control Party

Following the 1944 election, the largest and most thoroughly organized dissenting group was the CIO Political Action Committee. Its purpose, as commonly interpreted was to dominate the Democratic party (though its head, Sidney Hillman, maintained that it was non-partisan and would function in both the old parties). After Roosevelt died, a common judgment, sustained by much evidence, was that the CIO-PAC would try to make Mr. Wallace the Democratic nominee for the Presidency in 1948 — as it had tried, strenuously and very close to successfully, to make him the vice presidential nominee in 1944. (Had that attempt succeeded Mr. Wallace would today be President.)

But CIO-PAC in the congressional elections last November failed in attempts to elect candidates it supported and saw candidates it opposed win victories that in the aggregate were disaster for CIO-PAC. Following that catastrophe, CIO-PAC and the whole school of thought of which it was a spearhead, the whole of the Left Wing that had had unity under the aegis of Roosevelt, fell into the condition which is the common state of dissenters—division and confusion. In the Left Wing today there are, in addition to the Communist party, four organized groups and many splinters. The Left Wing is back where it was before Roosevelt gave it cohesion.

During recent months the largest demonstration of political dissent having the greatest degree of coherence has been the spectacular meetings addressed by Mr. Wallace. He and his following must now ask themselves a familiar question: where do we go from here? If they were cheered by President Truman's veto of the labor bill they must be dismayed by the overriding of it. Any renewal of hope to dominate the Democratic party is frustrated by the fact that more than half the Democrats in the House and Senate combined voted to override the President's veto.

Third-Party Obstacles

If Mr. Wallace and those around him and his following as a whole think of starting a third party they face frustration, according to a study made by Dewey L. Fleming, of "The Baltimore Sun," of the election laws in the various states. In nineteen states, including some of the largest, a new party can get a place on the ticket only by petitions signed by a specified number of voters. The number and the process are formidable. In California, for example, the proponents of a new party in 1948 would have to get over 165,000 signatures. Some states require both petitions and conventions. The establishment of a new party and the mechanism of getting it on the tickets in the states are so formidable as to make success in the national election a fantastic impossibility.

If they cannot have a new party of their own, with any prospect of success, what will Mr. Wallace and his associates and following do? That question sums up the part of the political picture next year which is confusing.

Another part of the picture has been clarified by Mr. Truman's veto of the labor bill. The veto at once caused and made vivid to the country the extraordinary solidarity of the Republicans. Out of fifty-one Republicans in the Senate, only 3 voted counter to party policy and in support of Mr. Truman's veto. In the House, out of the total elected last fall, 246, only 11 supported the veto. The total of dissenters in both branches, fourteen, is so slight as to be negligible; it can by no possibility be called a party cleavage. And the fourteen dissenters do not include any leadership of a sort likely to create serious cleavage.

The pants, coat and vest makers have hit on a great plan. They blow the whistle on a certain day and—pouff!—away everybody goes to the great open spaces. It's just like one of those dream sequences in a play. Presto! From the pants factory to the rocks, and rills! From the vest and coat mill to the templed hills.

For two weeks not a pair of pants will be created, not a coat will move. And throughout the world of button, zipper, suspender and belt manufacturing there is envy and longing.

To A Dandelion

By TRUMAN TWILL

For the last few months the hardiest plant life in and around the Twillery has been a dandelion growing out of a crack in the concrete floor of the front porch. It has been stepped on, chipped off, scuffed, twisted and blistered with heat. And it's doing fine.

Its success is a reminder of trees that grow out of crevices in the brown and gray rocks on bleak islands in Canadian lakes—and a reminder that something must be insanely wrong about the notion of coddling life in the hope of adding anything to its margin of security.

Every gardener has been puzzled by the fact his precious plants can be bowled over by several dozen kinds of bugs, inclement weather, fungus growths, or just an unkind word, while the weeds he's trying to ged rid of can't be killed by anything short of burning oil.

Every sociologist has paused somewhere in his pursuit of improvement to wonder why so many successful people have their origin in neighborhoods and circumstances that do-gooders say should be eliminated because they breed only sickness, crime and misery.

Every athletic coach has noted with amazement how few of the rich kids reared on certified milk and the best of care seem able to hold their own against little roughnecks who cut their teeth on beer-bottle caps and never owned a pair of overshoes or more than one shirt.

Horticulturists are on the lookout all the time for hardy stock to fortify the durability of the newly-developed strains. The very act of improving fruit, vegetables, trees and so on seems to have a tendency to make them pushovers for all manner of new diseases.

Meanwhile, geneticists are in constant danger of outwitting themselves by breeding certain desirable characteristics into animals at the expense of the animals' ability to remain alive in a world that isn't padded all the way round with sterilized cotton and surgical gauze. The only thing that will grow in a lawn without pampering is a weed. If nothing were done about them, the only animals capable of wresting control of the earth from men would be rats.

It's a case of roughnecks having more on the ball than nice people; of weeds being better equipped to fight the battle of survival than African violets, of rats being better adapted to the world they live in than human beings who get all kinds of diseases and have a habit of slaughtering one another; of dandelions being able to grow in concrete, and three-dollar house plants dying if the lady of the house forgets to water them.

Apparently, the only way to get rid of that dandelion on the front porch is to soften it up with coddling and it will kill itself.

Axle Grease Good To Last Drop

By The Associated Press

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Henry E. Haenke, retired Navy man, makes models of horsedrawn vehicles—stagecoaches, carts, buggies and the like—so accurately that even the squarehead nuts that hold the wheels on are true to the scale of one inch to the foot. But what he takes special pride in is the fact that the wheels are lubricated with real oldfashioned axle grease, not so easy to get these days.

BLOEMFONTEIN, SOUTH AFRICA—Dr. J. S. STEEL MAKING FALLS BELOW 90 PER CENT

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, July 7—The nation's steelmaking rate fell below 90 per cent of capacity last week for the first time in the past 26 weeks.

Magazine Steel estimated the national ingot rate at 73 per cent, a drop of 2½ points from the preceding week. In the first six months of the year, the industry produced 42 million tons of ingots and steel castings, a peacetime record.

"Curtailment of production last week was primarily in open-hearth and blast furnace department," Steel said, "while finishing mills generally maintained a high rate, especially sheet and strip mills."

The magazine explained that previously scheduled shutdowns for vacations at these latter mills coincided with the shutdowns due to the fuel shortage.

Steel declared that "while the beginning of the year's second half operations was disappointing to producers as well as consumers, who had hoped for restoration of balance between supply and demand by the year-end, it does not preclude attainment of that goal.

A sharp drop of 58 points in the Cleveland rate to 33 per cent, the magazine pointed out, was due chiefly to the complete suspension of operations because of vacations at the National Tube company's Lorain plant.

Youngstown dropped 53 points to 40 per cent, Pittsburgh fell 42 to 42 per cent and Wheeling dropped 30.5 points to 53. Most of these decreases were attributed by the magazine to the cities' proximity to the coal mines, which results in low coal stocks being kept on hand.

Biggest B-29 Fleet To Cross Atlantic Arrives

By The Associated Press

FRANKFURT, GERMANY, July 7—The U. S. Army Air Force said today the largest flight of giant B-29 Superfortresses ever to cross the Atlantic arrived unheralded in Germany Saturday.

Twenty-one of the Superfortresses arrived at Giebelstadt airport, 50 miles southeast of Frankfurt. Six others were said to have been delayed enroute, four at Goose Bay, Labrador, one in Scotland and one in Stuttgart.

The flight was described as a "routine training mission" of crews of the 97th very heavy bomb group from the Smoky Hill airfield, Salina, Kans. The mission, it was said, was designed to familiarize crews with the problems of long-range overwater flights.

JONES

mander of the Lima, O., Legion, whether it is possible "that your memory is so bad that you can't remember whether Mr. Jones was or was not a member of the Black Legion?"

Effinger, appearing nervous and complaining of cramps in his arm, replied:

"I can't remember if I saw him go into the Legion. Maybe I did. If I did, I can't remember."

Effinger appeared before the subcommittee in response to a subpoena issued in connection with hearings on the nomination of Jones as a member of the federal communications commission.

The subpoena was issued after publication of a story by Drew Pearson, the columnist, that Jones formerly was a member of the Black Legion and that his father belonged to the Ku Klux Klan.

Effinger signed an affidavit in 1938 that Jones was a member of the Legion. Jones has denied this and also the allegation that his father was a member of the Klan.

At the request of Senator Brewster (R-Me), presiding, Effinger examined the report that Effinger saw Jones take the oath as a member of the Legion.

Brewster then had Effinger examine an affidavit executed June 27, 1947 by Barton, stating that Effinger told him Jones "has never been a member" of the Legion.

"Affidavit Wrong"

"Wait just a minute," Effinger interrupted. "That's not right. I know my mind is not as good as it used to be, but I told this man (Barton) that he (Jones) was taken in (as a member) at the Tapscott farm."

Brewster asked Effinger why he told Barton that Jones had never been a member of the Legion, in view of his 1938 affidavit that Jones had joined.

"I told him he (Jones) was not because I thought it was none of his business," Effinger replied.

Capehart asked: "Why wasn't it his (Barton's) business?"

Effinger: "Is your business my business, brother? Is Bob Jones' business any of my business?"

Capehart then asked Effinger whether he is a member of the Black Legion.

Admits Membership

"Yes, sir," Effinger replied.

"You are commander of the Lima Black Legion?" Capehart asked.

"Yes, sir," Effinger said.

Capehart asked whether it is against the rules of the Legion to give out information as to who are members.

When Effinger said it is, Capehart wanted to know why Effinger had given out information alleging that Jones had joined.

"Because he had violated the rules himself," Effinger replied. He did not elaborate. Effinger said the Legion had supported Jones "both morally and vocationally."

Brewster wanted to know the purpose of the 1938 affidavit, but Effinger said he could not remember.

The witnesses then said he was seized with an arm cramp and asked Senator Johnson (D.Colo) to yank his arm. Johnson did while Effinger turned down an offer by Brewster to excuse him from further testimony if he felt unable to continue.

Wants To Rest.

"I just want to get done with this and rest," Effinger said.

In reply to further questions, Effinger said he did not remember who asked him to make public the 1938 affidavit.

Capehart asked whether Effinger had come to Washington by automobile or by bus and the witness, obviously flustered, said:

"I don't even remember how I came."

"Is your memory so poor . . ." Capehart began.

"I remember now," Effinger interjected. "I came by bus."

But he could not recall whether he had discussed the case with anyone since arriving in Washington.

"How long has your memory been so bad as it is this morning?"

"It has been going bad for two years," Effinger said.

Capehart asked Effinger whether he considers membership in the Black Legion grounds for "disbarring," a man from public service.

Effinger said that, on the contrary, it should make a man "better qualified."

Brewster then showed Effinger what he described as contempt of court proceedings brought against Effinger in June, 1940. Brewster said the document showed that Effinger had been found guilty of "false and perjured allegations" in an Allentown, O., court, and had been sentenced to two months in jail and fined $200.

"Do you recall whether you paid the fine and served in jail?" Brewster asked.

"I don't remember," Effinger replied.

2 Fugitives from Lima Hospital Nabbed in West

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 7—The Missouri state patrol reported that two of four prisoners who escaped early Saturday from Lima State hospital were captured late yesterday in a stolen car at Kirkwood, Mo.

Those captured were Robert W. Frost, 21, of Columbus, who had been sent to Lima for observation following indictment for armed robbery and kidnaping, and Clarence Underburger, 21, of Dayton, who was charged with burglary.

The Ohio state highway patrol was informed the two youths were caught in a car reported stolen from New Lebanon, O.

Still at large were Ira Eden, 43, of East Rushville, and Grovery Spry, 23, of Jackson, both charged with rape.

HALF-BILLION TOLL IN MONTH OF FLOODS

By The United Press

Floods which rolled down over the midwestern corn belt for more than a month left behind crop and soil damage estimated today at more than a half billion dollars.

Flood waters, which still covered many rich bottomland areas, cut deeply into crop prospects and washed away millions of tons of the world's finest topsoil.

A survey of the flood damage in Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Illinois—the four states hardest hit—disclosed these estimates.

Crop damage—$225,000,000.

Soil loss—$300,000,000.

Land flooded—3,000,000 acres.

Number of persons made homeless—34,312.

Number killed—16.

The figures told only part of the story, and gave only a hint of the suffering, hardship and financial loss felt by farmers and townspeople in the flood-stricken areas.

The floods, which surged down the Mississippi and Missouri rivers and their numerous tributaries in one record-breaking crest after another, destroyed 47 homes and damaged 4,190.

The Red Cross estimated that 263 farm and factory buildings were destroyed and 7,261 damaged.

Fifty-two Red Cross shelters in 30 communities housed about 2,000 homeless persons during the height of the floods. The Red Cross said it fed 6,000 persons, more than half of them levee workers.

Boy Scouts To Search For Man Lost in Cave

By The United Press

CHATTANOOGA, July 7—Eight Boy Scouts were hopeful today of accomplishing what their cave-exploring elders have failed to do — solve the mystery of John Hurn's disappearance.

The Scouts, led by 17-year-old Eagle Scout Jimmy Major, set out for the adventure from Atlanta, Ga., Sunday night with the protests of their parents ringing in their ears.

They also had to face state police guarding the yawning entrance to gloomy Nickajack cave on Lookout mountain. The police were there to bar the curious from wandering into the cave where Hurn disappeared last Tuesday.

The Scouts, however, said they were far from curious. They felt confident that they could find Hurn if he is in the cave.

ACCIDENTS

and internal injuries. The car, traveling north was demolished.

Todar K. Parkevick, 49, of Logansport, O., suffered a dislocated shoulder yesterday afternoon when he lost control of the car he was driving after it skidded on the wet pavement and crashed into the ditch. Patrolmen said he was eastbound on route 30-N. He was taken to Bucyrus City hospital for treatment.

Before the Parkevick car could be taken away, Eugene Bourdon, 23, of Canton, also driving east, lost control of his car while passing the scene of the accident at 3:30 p. m. and crashed into the opposite ditch on the north side of the road. Patrolmen said the accident happened when Bourdon attempted to put on the brakes and skidded on the wet road. Miss June Pickens, 23, a passenger, suffered a minor eye injury.

Two More Accidents

The third and final one of that series happened at 4:30 p. m. about 300 feet east of the other two cars when Paul Hosper, 31, of Rankin, Pa., tried to jam on the brakes and lost control of the car he was driving, crashing into the guard rails on both sides of the road, patrolmen said. All cars were badly damaged.

On route 30-S at 2:45 a. m. Saturday, Vito Edward Garubo, 26, of Cleveland lost control of his car and crashed into a guard rail about 10½ miles north of Mt. Gilead, patrolmen said. He suffered a strained back. The front end of the car was damaged.

At 2 p. m. Sunday cars driven by Frank McDonald, 47, of Mt. Gilead, Robert M. Riggs, 22, of Columbus and Murray Benford, 31, of Akron, all northbound, were involved in a collision at approximately the same spot north of Mt. Gilead on route 30-S. Patrolmen said McDonald and Riggs had stopped on the highway to avoid hitting a car parked on the road and Benford crashed into the Riggs car knocking it into McDonald's car. All vehicles were damaged. Michael W. Stefanick, 46, of Ravenna, O., lost control of the car he was driving and struck a telephone pole on route 42, 2 miles southwest of Mt. Gilead at 12:15 p. m. yesterday afternoon, breaking off the pole. Mrs. Julia Stefanick, 41, suffered head injuries and shock. She was treated by a Mt. Gilead physician.

At 5:08 p. m. two miles southwest of Mt Gilead, Carl A. Farro, 50, of Cincinnati overturned in the ditch when he lost control of the car he was driving. The car was damaged considerably.

John Gallougher, 56, of Youngstown lost control of his automobile two-tenths of a mile east of the other two accidents on route 42 at 4:30 p. m. yesterday and his car rolled over coming to a stop in the ditch.

Final Accident

The final accident occurring in that section of the route was at 4:35 p. m. yesterday when a car driven by Rudolph Bacos, 53, of Cleveland lost control and overturned coming to a stop in the ditch on the opposite side of the road from Gallougher. Mrs. Mary Bacos of Cleveland was treated for shock and a head laceration by a Mt. Gilead physician. All the cars were badly damaged.

Other accidents reported involved cars driven by Donald E. Rader, 16, of Grafton, O., and Eugene A. Evans, 19, of Portsmouth, N. H. Patrolmen said the collision happened at 4:45 p. m. Friday on route 42, 10 miles southeast of Mt. Gilead when Evans started to pass the westbound Rader car then pulled back too sharply into the line of traffic, colliding with the other car. Both cars were damaged considerably.

Price O. Owens, 23, of near Marengo escaped injury Friday night when he lost control of the car he was driving on route 229 about a mile west of Marengo in Morrow county and plowed into a section of fence, tearing it down. Patrolmen said the accident happened when the front spring of the car broke, causing Owens to lose control of the vehicle.

Cars Sideswipe

Cars driven by John Samuel Gast, 19, of Marengo, and Francis Edward Orewiler, 21, of Bucyrus sideswiped at 1:30 a. m. today on route 4, 11 miles north of Marion, according to reports from passenger in the Bucyrus car sufpatrolmen. Maxine Orewiler, a fered minor head bruises. Gast was driving south, Orewiler was headed north when the collision happened, patrolmen said. Both cars were damaged considerably.

Cars driven by Mrs. Jessie M. Bodie, 41, of Lorain and one by Effio E. Eggert, 45, of Columbus collided Saturday at 10:40 a. m. on route 42 at the Cardington bridge, patrolmen reported. Mrs. Alice Eggert suffered a bruised left side and K. C. Bodie, a passenger in the other car sustained a head laceration.

The first accident reported by city police occurring at West Center and Prospect streets at 5:21 p. m. Saturday involved a Radio Red cab driven by Russell Gulliford of 288 East Center street and an auto driven by Charlotte Franks of Belmon, N. Y. The taxi was damaged on the right side. Gulliford was going east on West Center and Franks was headed west on the same street. Franks told police he cut his wheels to avoid a third car which was backing into a parking space and was hit by the taxi.

At North Main and George streets at 5:45 p. m. Sunday a car driven by Richard C. Wyeth of Thornville was damaged in a collision with an auto driven by Edgar Allen of 351 Leader street. Wyeth was going south on North Main and Allen was headed west on George street. The collision occurred in the intersection. Both drivers told police they had the green light before entering the intersection.

CABOL'S BRIDE OF 3 DAYS PASSES CRISIS

By The Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, July 7—Mme. Ernesto Undreanu, wife of the secretary of former King Carol of Romania, said today Elena Lupescu "passed the crisis" of her grave illness last night and "we even hope that the improvement she shows will lead to her recovery."

The auburn-haired woman sought Thursday to legalize in marriage her 23-year-old relationship with the former monarch, who twice has retired hastily from the troubled Romanian throne. She has undergone four transfusions for anemia.

Mrs. Undreanu said "Madame Lupescu this morning is better."

"Of course nobody can tell," she said. "Yesterday we thought it would be a matter of hours but during the night, which physicians said would bring the crisis, she showed strength and this morning seemed better.

"It is absolutely untrue that she has lapsed into a coma. She has been conscious all the time except when sleeping but, of course, she is very weak and is very seriously ill."

"It is also absolutely untrue that she has leukemia. She suffers no mserious anemia and is very ill. She has had four blood transfusions and they seem to be helping her.

"We have hope now that she may continue her recovery."

FORD'S FOREMEN GO BACK TO THEIR JOBS

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, July 7—Some 3,000 Ford Motor Co. foremen returned to their jobs today after voting to end a 47-day strike that saw loss of their union's bargaining rights.

Nearly 2,800 members of the Foreman's Association of America (Ind.) in Ford's Retroit area Rouge, Lincoln and Highland park plants walked out May 21 in a dispute over a new contract, demanding exclusive bargaining rights for company foremen.

In recent weeks, however, many of them left their posts on picket lines to return to work. Company and union officials agreed the number reached about 800.

Two other factors were believed instrumental in leading to the back-to-work vote. They are:

Passage of the Taft-Hartley law, which among other things relieves employers of any obligation to bargain with foremen's unions, and the company's subsequent withdrawal of recognition from the FAA.

Failure to get supporting action from the CIO United Auto Workers.

Several weeks after the walkout the FAA asked the UAW-CIO to authorize its 85,000 members on production lines at the three plants to refuse to cross the foremen's picket lines. The Auto Workers' executive board sought to intervene as mediator in the strike and when the company rejected the offer the board promised a decision next Wednesday in the FAA request.

"The stalemate is exaggerating the differences between the company and the FAA," Union President Robert H. Keys and Ford Chapter President Pat Mullin said in recommending termination of the strike. The recommendation was adopted by a 10 to one margin at a mass meeting of 3,200 FAA members Sunday, they added.

Keys declared the battle for a new contract "will be carried on from inside the plants," and repeated a promise to test the constitutionality of the Taft-Hartley act in the courts.

Found in two pieces, the sword provided the name for Brokensword, north of here, near the spot where it was found.

SECURITY SURVEY AT LIMA HOSPITAL SET

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 7—State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood today disclosed he would conduct a survey of the Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane to "see what can be done about security provisions."

While expressing confidence in Supt. R. E. Bushong, Director Sherwood said too many patients had been escaping from the institution. Twenty-one patients who have escaped from the hospital in recent years still are at large, he said. That does not take into consideration many other patients who have escaped and later been recaptured.

Director Sherwood pointed out that ultimate security was extremely difficult to maintain at Lima because the hospital was a "cross between a state hospital and a prison."

He intimated that he would send a penal expert from one of Ohio's prisons to check security and said he himself would visit the hospital next Thursday.

Four patients escaped last week but two of them have been recaptured.

The hospital now has 1,142 patients.

W.C.T.U. LAYS PLANS TO VOTE STATE DRY

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 7—The Ohio Women's Christian Temperance Union prepared today to lay the ground work for a ballot box campaign to dry up the state.

Miss Mary B. Ervin of Columbus, state W.C.T.U. president, called a three-day workshop at Lakeside in Ottawa county to train county leaders "in tested methods of campaigning for county and local option."

The workshop will be held July 10, 11 and 12.

The Columbus woman belabored the recent general assembly in a statement accompanying the workshop call:

"Our legislature did the easy thing," she declared. "Instead of grappling with the problems organized temperance forces faced them with, and listening to both sides, they made a poor show of even pretending fairness.

"The one bill they did pass, which Governor Herbert fortunately vetoed, would have freed tavern keepers from responsibility for serving minors if the minors misrepresented their ages.

"By their action, our legislators have served notice that we may expect nothing from them," she continued.

"We must turn elswhere. Our task is to so use the petition that we may secure by our own action consideration the legislatures refuses."

Many weeks ago the W.C.T.U. indicated it would turn to the initiative and referendum in its attempt to expand liquor-area areas in Ohio. The Lakeside meeting apparently is the first step in such a program.

Miss Graccio Houlder of Australia, an international lecturer, will be a chief speaker, said Miss Ervin.

UNION CHURCH SERVICES OPEN

Summer Series Launched at Calvary with Rev. J. B. Holloway in Pulpit.

First of the union summer Sunday evening services for Marion churches was held Sunday night in Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church of which Rev. R. W. Faulkner is pastor. Sermon was given by Rev. J. B. Holloway, pastor of Trinity Baptist church, Dr. V. E. Busler, pastor of Epworth Methodist church led responsible reading, and Rev. E. M. Hertzler offered prayer. Special music was a duet number by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Feaver, accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Baker at the organ. An offering was designated to be used for week-day religious education work in the public schools.

Rev. Holloway used as his sermon topic, "The Unique Mission of the Church." Pointing out that the church is the only institution which is at the same time both human and divine, he declared that it was founded by Christ to carry his Gospel throughout the earth, and this task he left in the hands of his disciples. A unique function of the church is to educate for a particular purpose, that of making "a life, not merely a living," he continued, the Bible is its "textbook containing an inexhaustable supply of truth, and the Holy spirit is the teacher, interpreting Christ's commands."

Listing anotner unique feature of the church as its place as originator and inspiration of all social service, he went on to state that through healing of bodies the church has found "entry to hearts to bring men from the mire of sin," that the church, "engaged in relief is also concerned with the salvation of the lost."

To be a vital force he maintained, a church must be true to its unique function of carrying out worldwide missions, it must include a three-fold program of missions, evangelism and "giving," obeying Christ's command of "go ye into all the earth," the "marching orders" of the church. Modern civilization, "at the crossroads and severed from the sustaining roots of ethical concepts and standards," in need of the church, which, though it has faltered and failed at times, always has stood "against suppression of truth, and it shall always stand, though it must rise upon the ruins of civilization," he concluded.

the subcommittee's investigation of his organization.

Rep. Kearns (R-Pa) subcommittee chairman, in opening the hearings, accused Petrillo of holding "dictatorial powers" over his union. Kearns is a member of the union.

The hearing began with a Hollywood-like air—newsreel and still picture cameraman having brightened the large room in the house office building with floodlights.

Petrillo objected to the intense light after a few minutes.

"I've been talking to you for a long time," Petrillo told Kearns, blinking at the lights, "but I haven't seen you yet.

"I'm a little bit cockeyed as it is," the union leader added.

The lights stayed on.

Petrillo stated, in response to questions from Rep. Fisher (D-Tex), that he receives $46,000 annual salary plus $13,000 annual expense account and a car.

Of this amount, Petrillo said, he receives $26,000 of the salary, $8,000 of the expense account and the car—which "I can trade in on a new one at any time"—from the Chicago local of the musician's union. He also is president of the local.

Petrillo said it is "the present intention" of the federation, which represents substantially all of the nation's professional musicians, to allow all their music recording contracts to lapse when they expire on Dec. 31, this year.

Petrillo said attorneys are considering whether it would conflict with the antitrust laws if the union then should decide to make and market records. But, he said, it is thinking of going ahead with that plan.

The present royalty arrangement, providing for a fraction of a cent on each record sold once a master recording is made, is "unsatisfactory to our membership," the union leader said.

PAYS $10 FINE

Miss Jane Rutherford of 263 Summit street pleaded guilty in municipal court Monday when charged with driving without an operator's license and was fined $10 and costs. She was cited by state highway patrolmen Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the intersection of routes 98 and 95.

JUNIOR BASEBALL MEETING CALLED

City Park League To Be Organized Here Wednesday.

Marion boys interested in taking part in the city junior baseball program are to report at the American Legion Dugout on High street at 1 p. m. Wednesday.

Any boy who did not reach his sixteenth birthday by Jan. 1, 1947, will be eligible for participation in the league. It is being sponsored jointly by Bird-McGinnis post of American Legion and the city recreation commission.

Games will be played in the afternoons at McKinley and Garfield parks. At Wednesday's meeting full details of the program will be explained to all present. H. George Roost, chairman of the program, has expressed the wish that an adult have a hand in organizing each team. He points out that eight years ago when he headed a similar program adult managers helped out with most of the 22 teams that were active. Interested adults are asked to attend.

Every boy who plays in the league, if he is a Marion resident, will be eligible for the American Legion junior baseball team next year. For this reason the Legion team coach, Nelson Irvin will keep a watch on players.

SIX NATIONS ACCEPT AID TALKS INVITATION

By The Associated Press

PARIS, July 7—The French foreign ministry announced today that six nations had accepted the Anglo-French invitation to cooperate in continental economic reconstruction under the Marshall proposal and that similar notes were expected soon from eight other countries.

The six acceptances were from Belgium, Italy, Portugal, Eire Greece and Turkey.

Acceptances "in principle" have been received unofficially from Holland, Luxembourg, Austria, Denmark, Iceland, Norway, Sweden and Switzerland.

French quarters said that thus far only one nation, Finland, had given a provisional negative reply, and that this was "for political and geographical reasons."

Czechoslovakia, touchstone of the Slav bloc's attitude, received her decision on the Marshall proposal as a Czechoslovak delegation continued conferences in Moscow.

The Czechoslovak ambassador to Paris, Jindrich Nosek, scoffed at reports that Prague had accepted "provisionally" the French invitation to confer here with 23 other nations on economic affairs. He said that the answer, when it came, would be a straight "yes" or "no."

The Italian Communists, meanwhile, approved Italy's participation with a set of conditions which may suggest a precedent for nations in the Russian orbit.

said they resembled washtubs, more than disks.

The Coast Guard at Seattle said there was nothing to indicate that the objects might have come from foreign vessels near shore.

The objects were reported seen since June 25 in Canada, the District of Columbia and the following states: Oregon, Washington, California, Idaho, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Missouri, Nebraska, Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana, Louisiana, Kentucky, Georgia, South Carolina, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Ohio, Illinois, Arkansas, Tennessee, Maine, Florida, Utah, Maryland, Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, Connecticut, New Hampshire, New York, Alabama and Virginia.

General Carl Spaatz, commandant of the Army Air Forces, in the Pacific northwest on a fishing trip, said he knew nothing about the mystery objects or of plans to use AAF planes to search for them.

His comment came after Louis E. Starr, national commander in chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said at Columbus, O., Saturday that he understood Spaatz had "a group out right now" searching for the objects.

At Bozeman, Mont., Casey Baird, pilot of a P-38 pursuit plane working for the United States geodetic society, reported he was forced to evade a group of flying disks, and that his photographer tried to get a picture.

Peace in Coal Industry To Cost U. S. Consumers

PITTSBURGH, July 7—Peace in the nation's coal mining industry will cost home owners and industries money.

Experts today forecast a price increase of between 65 and 70 cents a ton at retail outlets to offset concessions granted northern members of the United Mine Workers union.

Industriallists said an increase in coal prices will mean a boost in electric power prices, which in turn means a boost in steel products, automobiles, household appliances and construction materials.

By DON C. BURTON

By The Associated Press

NILES, O., July 7—Coroner J. C. Henshaw reported that George Radcliffe Jr., 9, shot and killed his three-year-old sister, Cathy, as she was playing in the front yard of their home Saturday night. Two sisters were quoted by the coroner as saying the boy appeared in the front door with a .22 rifle and fired a shot that pierced the girl's heart. The father told authorities he thought the gun was out of reach on a wall.

RED HOT YANKS HOLD EIGHT-GAME MARGIN OVER TIGERS, BOSOX

Beat A's Twice To Run Win Streak to 8; Bums Lead Nationals.

By The Associated Press

The red hot New York Yankees, riding an eight-game winning streak, today held an eight-game margin over Detroit and Boston in the American league flag chase.

As both leagues recessed for the next three days, because of the All-Star game Tuesday in Chicago, Bucky's Yanks were the talk of the baseball world.

Joe Page and Allie Reynolds came through with some fine pitching yesterday as the Yanks whipped the Philadelphia Athletics 8-2 and 9-2.

The Brooklyn Dodgers took the National league lead away from the Boston Braves by beating them, 4-0 behind the three-hit pitching of Ralph Branca at Ebbets field.

Branca fanned six and walked five in gaining his third shutout and 12th win.

The Giants failed to connect for a homer for the first time in their last 17 games but they took the measure of the Phils, 4-3 at Philadelphia.

The Detroit Tigers defeated the St. Louis Browns, 10-2 and 8-4 in St. Louis while the Boston Red Sox trounced the Washington Senators, 7-4 and 10-1 in Boston.

Doby Gets First Hit As Tribe, Chisox Split

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 7—The Cleveland Indians, minus a few key players, move to Wilkes Barre, Pa. today for a night game with their farm hands after splitting a doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox yesterday.

Yesterday's nightcap saw Larry Doby, the first Negro to break into the American league, make his first major league hit, an infield single which scored a teammate and helped the Tribe to a 5-1 triumph after Chicago won the opener, 3-2.

Playing at first base, Doby collected one hit in four tries while handling eight putouts without an error.

The young Negro was not quartered at the hotel where the Indians stay in Chicago, but put up at a south side inn.

Al Gettel tossed a four-hitter to hang up his third victory in the opener as Hank Edwards and Joe Gordon hit home runs. Rudy York hit for the circuit for the Sox.

Manager Lou Boudreau, who had gone hitless in his last 13 trips to the plate, collected two bingles in the nightcap.

Reds in 6th as Cards Aply Dual Whitewash

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, July 7—One victory in yesterday's doubleheader with the St. Louis Cardinals would have landed the Cincinnati Reds in fourth place but a pair of Redbird pitchers vetoed the move and the Rhinelanders went down to defeat, 3-0 and 2-0.

Rookie Jim Hearn applied the first coat of whitewash, turning in a smooth three-hitter for the opening game victory. Murray Dickson scattered four hits to win the nightcap.

The Cardinals combined a single, a walk, a sacrifice and third sacker Grady Hatton's error to score one run off Johnny Vander Meer in the first inning of the opener and then drove him from the mound in the next frame with a two-run outburst.

Young Kent Peterson was touched for six safeties in the nightcap with doubles by Enos Slaughter and Marty Marion as key blows in the Cardinal scoring.

Legion To Play At Mansfield

The Marion American Legion team will get its toughest test since Lima at Mansfield Wednesday at 5 p. m.

Mansfield's junior squad racked up its eighth victory at Loudonville in a July 4 contest.

Marion is also fielding an undefeated club, but they've played only two games. One of them was a tie.

The team has been playing practice games with some of the local semi-pro outfits.

Jack Owens, who has allowed only four hits in his 10 innings of pitching in junior tilts, will probably draw the starting assignment.

The line up will be rounded out by Douglas Knisley, catcher; Robert Ralston, first base; James Rea, second; James Hill, third; Richard Thomas, short; and William Mathias, Richard Huddle and Richard Riddle, outfielders.

At Bat with 'The Hat'

Harry (The Hat) Walker, Philadelphia Phillies batting star, takes his two-toned bat to the plate and follows this fidgety routine before every pitch. Walker rests the bat between his knees, doffs his cap (hence "The Hat"), scratches his arm, replaces the lid, blows on his fingers, puts the bat back between his knees while he rubs his palms. The ritual pays off and Harry lashes out another hit in the bottom photo.

Cubs To Play Rained-Out Sunday Dual Bill Tonight

As a result of rain yesterday that caused postponement of the doubleheader with Lima, the Cubs are booked to play the Terriers twice today.

The first game will start at 6:30 and will be a seven-inning affair. Jim Sabens is scheduled for mound duty in the nine-inning night cap while Ed Witowski will get the call in the lid-lifter.

With the Cubs only four and one-half games out of first place, fans are beginning to get excited over chances of holding the All-Star game here. The dream game will be July 29 and will be held in the city leading the league after games of July 20.

The Cubs go on the road for a three-game series with Zanesville Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and at Newark Friday, Saturday and a doubleheader Sunday. Next Monday is another open date with the Dayton Indians coming in Tuesday.

Boxing In Whirl As Swede Upsets Baksi

By The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM, July 7—Confusion was general throughout the heavyweight division today, a condition brought about by the Swedish champion, Olle Tandberg, who upset Joe Baksi and a lot of plans here yesterday by gaining a disputed decision in their 10-round boxing bout.

With the possible exception of Tandberg, nobody was more surprised than Baksi—a 3 to 1 favorite from Kulpmont, Pa.—when the referee and one of the judges awarded the decision to the red-haired Swede and the other judges called the fight a draw.

Even Swedish sports writers and home town fans threw up their hands in amazement and Baksi's handlers questioned the decision in terms of open disgust.

But the question left unanswered was who, if anybody, is going to climb into the ring with Joe Louis later this year to challege him for the world heavyweight crown he has worn for a decade.

Both fighters had been signed by Lew Burston, European representative of New York's 20th Century Sporting club, to contingent contracts calling for a shot at Louis in Yankee stadium Sept. 19.

NATIONALS COCKY ON ALL-STAR TILT'S EVE IN SPITE OF RECORD

Confident of Victory Despite Fact AL Flattened Them 9 Times.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 7—For a baseball club that has been flattened nine times in 13 starts, the National league squad today was a surprisingly cocky outfit on the eve of the 14th All-Star baseball game at Wrigley field.

So confident was the older circuit of winning from the Americans tomorrow that Brooklyn's Ralph Branca and Boston's Warren Spahn, two important members of All-Star pitching staff, hurled yesterday in a championship game between the Dodgers and Braves, just two days before the inter-league battle. Thus Spahn, the number one lefthander of the National league, and Branca, one of the top righthanders who trail only Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell in total victories with 12 and 11, respectively, have practically eliminated themselves from All-Star competition.

Blackwell, the hottest pitcher in the majors, Harry (The Cat) Brecheen and Red Munger of the St. Louis Cardinals and Boston's Johnny Sain are the only National league hurlers who will be fully rested for tomorrow's fray.

On the other hand, every member of the American league's eight-man mound corps will have had three days of rest with exception of Joe Page who was called upon by the Yankees in relief yesterday, and Hal Newhouser, Detroit's mighty lefthander, who also worked two innings, conceivably to loosen up for Tuesday's starting assignment.

Last year National League President Ford Frick, chagrined over the ease with which the American league All-Stars romped over the Nationals, 12-0 was especially vehement in his denouncement of certain players who had asked to be excused from the 1946 game.

What Frick felt upon being informed that Cincinnati's Eddie Miller, who was the number one choice for the shortstop post in the fan poll, had bowed out, might well be imagined. Miller, who played throughout the holiday weekend for the Reds and who has not missed one of the Reds' 75 games thus far, asked to be excused because of a sore right shoulder.

Another choice of the fans, third baseman Bob Elliott of the Braves, also withdrew because of an injury to his index finger in Saturday's game with the Dodgers.

Although no official announcement has been made, it was believed that Blackwell, who has won his last 12 games, will be the National league's starting pitcher. The American league choice is likely to be Newhouser.

Shuford Leads Attack as Cubs Blast Terriers, 17-8, at Lima

Special to The Star

LIMA, July 7—Marion unleashed an 18-hit barrage to trip the Lima, 17-8, here Saturday night with right fielder Bob Shuford setting the pace. Shuford drove in six runs with a homer, two doubles and two singles in six trips to the dish.

Dwight Maxhimer also homered for the winners in the first frame as the Cubs got off to a 4-0 lead. The Terriers pounded away at John Edington and tied the count at 5-5 in the third but Marion went ahead, 7-5, in the fourth and was never headed. The Cubs pushed across 10 runs in the final three frames off starter Jim Voss and reliefer Bob Henry while Flamini, who replaced Edington in the second, held Lima fairly well in check.

RUSS ACCUSE BEVIN OF SPLITTING EUROPE

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, July 7—The Soviet press and radio accused British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin today of seeking—on instructions from Washington—to split Europe into two camps in connection with the Marshall proposal for continental reconstruction.

A dispatch from London to Tass, official Soviet news agency, said this alleged move had the "unconditional support" of French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault.

This "American decoy" in the form of aid excited some British and French leaders to "obedience," the dispatch said. It added, however, that on the whole these sources were not particularly pleased over the Paris conference scheduled to begin Saturday and already were predicting failure.

The Soviet weekly New Times predicted failure of the proposals of U. S. Secretary of State Marshall and questioned whether there would be any American help for Europe.

"American help, if there is any, in fact is conditioned on the unconditional fulfillment of orders of the 'steering committee'," the publication said.

The attack on Bevin by the Soviet press was one of the most severe he ever has received. Anthony Eden, former British foreign secretary, was accused of participating in a campaign "hostile to the Soviet Union." This campaign, Tass declared, was being carried on by a large sector of the British press and the London radio.

GALION, July 7—Galion's 2,500 industrial workers are receiving an unexpected additional week of vacation. Necessary repairs at the Galion municipal power plant which forced a shutdown last week have not been completed, and it is expected plants will be idle most of this week. Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rexall Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if undesirable pounds and inches of excess fat don't seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; get sensible fat instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly blood disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearance and action.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

MARY swallowed the pellet obediently and leaned back in her chair

But I was sure that Dr Twitchell, watching her, noticed her fingers tightly clenched into her palms mute evidence of the tension under which she was laboring

'How soon, Mr Graham can you get to work on those lines?' he asked, turning to me

'In about a minute,' I told him "Everything is ready"

'Then he said, 'I imagine it would be a good thing if you got to work immediately Did you accomplish anything yesterday?'

Mary's light laugh held a bitter note

'I memorized all of two lines,' she said

Were you able to remember them afterward?' he asked imperturbably

"Yes' she said "I managed to accomplish that difficult feat'

He turned again to me, with a question in his eyes which he promptly put into words

"You are familiar with those two lines? You will know if they are correctly given?"

Yes, I am" I told him, and he turned back abruptly to Mary.

Militant Manner

'Repeat those two lines now," he said, his voice and manner militant

Mary gasped, looked at me in panic for an instant, and then recited the two lines perfectly

Are they correct?" Dr Twitchell asked me

'Perfect!" I replied, smiling at at Mary

"Tell me, Miss Veritzen," he said mensuredly, "was your hesitation just now a temporary loss of memory—that is the lines indistinct in your mind, or were you just confused at my sudden question?'

'Jittery' describes my state of mind better," Mary told him smiling, and I saw that her spirits had been lifted distinctly by her ability to memorize the lines. 'The memory part didn't bother me at all I didn't even think of it"

"There you are," the old physician said, spreading his hands "Let me tell you, my girl, that if your memory had broken down completely as you feared, you would have omitted a word or two from our recital or added a couple of extraneous ones

Have a Foundation

'Now go on from there" he said But don't get discouraged if the going is tough, and if at times you fail to remember this little test shows that you have a foundation upon which to work If what you build upon that foundation is sometimes faulty, you always can tear it down and begin again Perseverance and patients are the watchwords and remember the old adage about Rome

'I've had that one dinned into me ever since I could understand what grown-ups said to me," Mary said dimpling "I always was an impatient cuss as Auntie Madge can testify with tears'

'You don't notice me shedding any now do you?' I asked smiling at her 'Do you mean, Dr Twitchell' I turned back to him, "that she can work steadily on those lines for longer periods of time than she did yesterday?"

'That all depends on her reactions' he said "The answer is yes if she doesn't get nervous Mrs Bickett will be the judge of that"

A Final Admonition

He rose and Katharine, at his nod followed him to the door, where he turned with a final admonition

"If you feel fatigued at any time Mrs Veritzen, he said, either in nerves or body, stop your work it once and lie down I will come back this evening before you go to sleep for the night, and I trust that your work, your bridge game and my bread pill will keep you reasonably peaceful for the day'

He gave her an indulgent fatherly smile as he went out of the door, and Mary gave him back one of her most fetching gamin grins

'He's a nice old billy goat' she said irreverently when the door had closed and I hope to the good Lawd he's got the right dope on this thing Well well soon know Let's get to work"
